

Pfizer to ax 1,100 R&D jobs in eastern Connecticut

February 1 2011

(AP) -- Pfizer Inc. says it will lay off more than 1,000 employees at its Groton research and development site as the drug giant cuts costs.

Spokesman Mackay Jameson (JIM'-eh-sin) said Pfizer's announcement Tuesday was part of its strategy to focus on neuroscience, oncology and other areas and to boost productivity. Research and development costs will be cut by up to $2 billion by 2012.

The Groton work force of 4,500 will be cut to about 3,400 in the next 18 months. Jameson says it will still be Pfizer's largest research and development site.

Jameson also confirmed that Pfizer will quit a research and development center in southern England in the next 18 months to two years.

©2010 The Associated Press. All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.

Citation: Pfizer to ax 1,100 R&D jobs in eastern Connecticut (2011, February 1) retrieved 26 April 2024 from <https://medicalxpress.com/news/2011-02-pfizer-ax-jobs-eastern-connecticut.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--