

Bristol-Myers to buy diabetes drug maker for $5B

July 1 2012

(AP) — Drug maker Bristol-Myers Squibb Co. says it agreed to buy diabetes drug maker Amylin Pharmaceuticals for about $5 billion in cash.

Bristol-Myers says it will pay $31 per share for Amylin in a cash tender offer.

Including Amylin's debt and a contractual payment obligation to Eli Lilly & Co., the deal is worth about $7 billion.

The deal was announced Friday. After it is complete, Bristol-Myers will enter into an alliance with drug maker AstraZeneca to develop and commercialize Amylin's portfolio of diabetes drugs. AstraZeneca will pay Bristol-Myers $3.4 billion in cash, and both companies will share profits and losses.

Bristol-Myers says the deal will hurt earnings in 2012 and 2013 by 3 cents per share.
