

Zydus recalls single lot of blood thinner warfarin

June 12 2013

Zydus Pharmaceuticals is recalling a single lot of the drug warfarin after receiving a complaint that some of the tablets are too large.

Zydus says it is recalling all of warfarin lot MM5767 with an expiration date of June 2014. The company says it has not received any reports of patient injury or harm.

Warfarin is a blood thinner widely used to prevent blood clots in patients with irregular heartbeats, heart valves or a history of heart attack. An overdose of warfarin could cause excessive bleeding and potentially be fatal.

The drugmaker says the affected products were distributed to wholesalers, retailers and mail order providers nationwide between November and December 2012.

Anyone with the product should stop selling or using it immediately and call 1-800-967-5952 to arrange its return to the manufacturer.

© 2013 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Citation: Zydus recalls single lot of blood thinner warfarin (2013, June 12) retrieved 19 April 2024 from <https://medicalxpress.com/news/2013-06-zydus-recalls-lot-blood-thinner.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.