

Report: Health exchanges' drug coverage confusing

April 28 2014, by Carla K. Johnson

The hunt for a health plan that would cover a particular drug or a favorite doctor proved frustrating for consumers navigating the new insurance exchanges.

A new report finds it was difficult or impossible to determine what drugs were covered in nearly half the 85 health plans analyzed. A directory of doctors was easier to find for most plans.

The report published Monday by market research firm Avalere Health is the first systematic analysis of consumer experience on the exchanges run by states and the federal government.

Caroline Pearson of Avalere says the situation should improve. The government will require plans on the federal exchange for 2015 to have direct links to lists of covered drugs.

Pharmaceutical giant Pfizer Inc. funded the analysis. Avalere maintained control over the content.

© 2014 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Citation: Report: Health exchanges' drug coverage confusing (2014, April 28) retrieved 7 May 2024 from <https://medicalxpress.com/news/2014-04-health-exchanges-drug-coverage.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.