

Caring for preterm babies in single family rooms may help prevent sepsis and improve exclusive breastfeeding

January 8 2019

Caring for preterm babies in single family rooms appears to reduce the incidence of sepsis and improve exclusive breastfeeding rates compared with traditional open ward neonatal units, according to a systematic review and meta-analysis published in The Lancet Child & Adolescent Health journal.

Nevertheless, extremely preterm babies (

Citation: Caring for preterm babies in single family rooms may help prevent sepsis and improve exclusive breastfeeding (2019, January 8) retrieved 12 May 2024 from <https://medicalxpress.com/news/2019-01-preterm-babies-family-rooms-sepsis.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.