

Hard-hit Pennsylvania to sue drugmaker over opioid epidemic

May 14 2019

The attorney general of Pennsylvania says he's filing a lawsuit accusing a pharmaceutical giant of fueling the opioid epidemic.

Attorney General Josh Shapiro's office said it would announce details of the lawsuit Tuesday afternoon. Pennsylvania is one of the states hardest hit by opioid addiction.

Shapiro's office two years ago joined with dozens of other states to investigate companies that make and distribute opioid painkillers.

Several Pennsylvania counties have already sued drugmakers, and a federal judge in Cleveland is overseeing more than 1,500 lawsuits filed by local governments, American Indian tribes and others against the opioid industry.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says opioids were involved in a record 48,000 deaths in the U.S. in 2017.

© 2019 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Citation: Hard-hit Pennsylvania to sue drugmaker over opioid epidemic (2019, May 14) retrieved 2 May 2024 from

<https://medicalxpress.com/news/2019-05-hard-hit-pennsylvania-sue-drugmaker-opioid.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--