

Alabama investigates 5 cases of lung disease tied to vaping

September 10 2019

Credit: CC0 Public Domain

The Alabama Department of Public Health says it's investigating five reports of potentially severe lung disease associated with electronic cigarettes or vaping.

The department told news outlets that it's evaluating the reports and will release information as it becomes available.

A department statement says the group is joining other state health departments in requesting information from health care providers on any cases of suspected respiratory illness among patients who vape.

It says most cases are among young adults and adolescents. Symptoms include chest pain and vomiting.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention says as of Sept. 6 there are over 450 possible cases of lung illness associated with the use of vaping over 33 states.

It says five deaths have been confirmed in California , Illinois , Indiana , Minnesota and Oregon .

© 2019 The Associated Press. All rights reserved.

Citation: Alabama investigates 5 cases of lung disease tied to vaping (2019, September 10) retrieved 5 May 2024 from
<https://medicalxpress.com/news/2019-09-alabama-cases-lung-disease-tied.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--