

IRS: COVID-19 face masks, sanitizer tax-deductible

March 30 2021

---

(HealthDay)—Faces masks, hand sanitizer, and disinfecting wipes are among the types of COVID-19 personal protective equipment (PPE) that Americans can deduct as a medical expense when filing taxes this year, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Deductions are allowed for purchases of COVID-19 PPE for use by an individual taxpayer, their spouse, or dependents that are not covered by insurance if total medical expenses exceed 7.5 percent of adjusted gross income, CBS News reported.

Eligible deductions include PPE bought since Jan. 1, 2020, according to the IRS.

It also said that purchases of PPE are eligible to be paid or reimbursed under flexible spending plans and medical savings accounts, but would then not be eligible as a tax deduction, CBS News reported.

More information: CBS News Article

Copyright © 2021 HealthDay. All rights reserved.

Citation: IRS: COVID-19 face masks, sanitizer tax-deductible (2021, March 30) retrieved 4 May 2024 from <https://medicalxpress.com/news/2021-03-irs-covid-masks-sanitizer-tax-deductible.html>

This document is subject to copyright. Apart from any fair dealing for the purpose of private study or research, no part may be reproduced without the written permission. The content is provided for information purposes only.
--